Pretty Big Eels.

On Dutch Neck is Gross pond—said to be bottomless, but at the deepest place
it is only fifty-six feet deep.

At its outlet one fine morning Christopher Waltzgrover discovered an enormous eel. He at first thought it a near relation of some of the snakes he often found in his boots. The creature was nearly out of water in a shallow spot.
He attacked it with a club and the monster showed fight. After a tussle the eel was slain. It was 4½ feet long and dressed 9½ pounds. Mr. Waltzgrover had eel steaks for a long time. The skin hangs today in the office of A. R. Reed, the prominent ship builder. It has shrunk much, but is now eight inches wide. The head is more than half a foot long, and the eyeholes are an inch long.

The largest eel outside of that giant with which I have had a personal acquaintance was one taken from Adam's pond at Boothbay harbor weighing four and one-half pounds. When that pond was drained in order to fit it for a reservoir the bottom was alive with eels, and two enterprising young men skinned a barrel full and shipped them to Boston.
They usually net from eight to ten cents
a pound.—G. W. Singer in Lewiston Journal.

His Curiosity Was Too Strong.

A delightful story of the exhibition in an 8-year-old boy of weak human nature that fails sometimes to be equal to the strain put upon it comes from Brooklyn. This small boy has not the virtue of humility very prominently developed.
Indeed, he is what is known among children of his own age as "proud," and wont to remind such of his playmates as are less fortunate than he in worldly station of his advantages. Now his mother, who has a class in Sunday school, to which her little son also belonged, had given his outgrown overcoat to another boy in the class.

And then, knowing the failing of her offspring, before setting out she told him he must not tell the new owner that the coat had ever belonged to him. And the boy promised. But it was terribly hard work, especially as he sat next the object of his self restraint during the entire exercises. But he didn't say anything, and the mother's heart was easier. At last, however, just before school was over, his state of grace departed from him. Leaning over the other boy, with cautiously extended fingers, he said, "I just want to see if that hole is in that pocket yet."—New

The Best Way to Buy Bananas.

The banana, which is the greatest of all tropical fruits, comes to us chiefly from Panama and the West Indies in great shiploads, and in the banana market in New York the big green bunches—
"heads" they call them in South America, just as we speak of heads of cabbage—containing from five to ten dozen each, can be bought for a dollar to two dollars and fifty cents, according to the variety. They are not so expensive after all, and a big green bunch hung in a cool cellar will ripen gradually, so as to furnish a dozen of ripe ones each day until the whole bunch is gone. In this way you can enjoy your bananas just as they do in the land of palms, for even there they cut them while they are green, and allow them to ripen as we do in the North.—Courtenay de Kalb in Harper's
Young People.

Those Life Preservers.

"I often have a strong desire," said a ferryboat traveler, "to pick up one of those life preservers under the seats and hold it up by one of the strings, just to see if it wouldn't fall to pieces from its own weight. They look rotten, and I believe they are rotten. They never seem to change positions. The dust is always an inch thick on them, and so I assume that they are never examined.
Fancy the despair of a man who seized one of them to assist him in saving his life, and when he tried to tie the straps around him found them falling apart
like a worn out shoestring."—New York Tribune.

A Prophecy.

A Pittsburg student, while reading
the book of the Vision of Nahum, the Elkashite, came across a passage that seemed to him to be a prophecy of the discovery of the use of electricity as a motive power in the electric railways of the present day. The passage is from Nahum ii, 4, and reads as follows: "The chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall jostle one against another in the broadways; they shall seem like torches;
they shall run like the lightnings."—
Boston Transcript.

His Idea of Fame.

"Ambition is my life," said the enthusiastic youth as he sketched out a marvelous future for himself. "I intend to live only for success, power. But how best to achieve that? Shall I command arms, dictate to senates, or wield the mighty pen?"

"Do none of these things," said his father with the wisdom of years; "the secret is this: discover a new bacillus."—

FOREIGN STRIKERS KILLED.

Secretary Blaine's Letter Strongly Commended.

OPINIONS OF LONDON ITALIANS.

Italian Immigration Increasing—The President's Trip—Accidentally Killed—Killed by an Explosion.

War With the Strikers, Special to the Journal.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa., April 2.—At 2 o'clock this morning the threatened outbreak of strikers in the coke region occurred at Morewood Plant. The fight was brief and deadly. Two rounds of cartridges were fired by the band of sixty-five guards and seven of the charging mob of strikers fell dead, while at least forty others were badly wounded. Four of the strikers killed were Poles; one an Italian and two Slavonians.

At 12 o'clock small bodies of strikers, armed with revolvers, iron bars and other weapons, gathered and attacked the Standard works, destroying everything movable. The Morewood plant was notified by telegraph none too soon. A mob of fully 1,200 strikers advanced silently in two detachments on Morewood; one detachment advancing by the main road and the other scattering over the hills. Shortly after 3 o'clock, at a given signal, a rush was made for the works where sixty-five guards, under the orders of Captain Lear stood waiting. The mob made a break for the fences of the company and were ordered to halt. The only answer was three shots from the mob. The strikers then dashed toward the stables and twice more the command to halt was given. The only answers were yells and threats. Then the order to fire was given and a volley from the Winchester drove the rioters back into the hills. The firing on both sides continued hardly three minutes. The bullets had terrible effect on the compact mass of strikers, while the guards were unharmed. The dead were left lying in the road while the wounded were carried off by friends. The foreign element among the strikers have been driven frantic by the death of their countrymen, and ferocious threats of revenge have been made all day. Thousands of strikers poured into this place all day and night lowered amidst great fears of what might happen.

Late to-night two wounded rioters died, making a total of nine deaths. Reports late to-night from all over the region, indicate a fearfully dangerous condition of affairs, and news that the military has been ordered out was received with satisfaction.

None of the men killed were citizens and the trouble is almost entirely confined to the foreign element. At Liesenring John Lushka, arrested for throwing a bomb Monday, was rescued by armed countrymen. The Sheriff and posse are after him and there will surely be a fight.

A number of Deputy Sheriffs have been arrested on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting at Morewood, and warrants are out for the arrest of all of them.

Secretary Blaine's Letter Commended. Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Secretary Blaine's letter to the Marquis Imperiali is very strongly commended by men of all shades of politics here, and the opinion is widely expressed that it will bring the Italian Government to a calmer consideration of the matter. There is considerable public indignation expressed at the attitude taken in the matter by the Italian Americans, who have long been citizens of the United States, and are now taking sides with the Italian Government and demanding satisfaction. There is a feeling that if these men are American citizens and have taken the oath of allegiance to the United States they are no longer subjects of Italy, whose duty it is to take up arms in her defense.

Ex-Representative Farquhar of New York, speaking of the correspondence published this morning, said he believed Blaine's letter would appeal to the good sense of every foreign nation. He said: "Italy does not want war; she wants to bluff us out. Secretary Tracy should now send a circular letter to the contractors who are engaged in constructing naval vessels, ordering them to hurry up the work of completing the vessels as quickly as possible at the Government's risk for damages and extra expense. This more indication that we were ready to prepare for anything Italy might be disposed to do, that we did not intend to yield when we were in the right, would put an end to Italy's demonstrations."

SENATOR JONES ON THE ITALIAN QUESTION.

Senator Jones of Nevada, now in New York City, is quoted in an interview as saying there will be no war with Italy. "It is all nonsense," says the Senator, "for the Italian Government to talk of redress for killing those brigands. It is not many years ago since that class of people were shot down in their own country by order of the Government. It is only a bit of diplomacy on the part of the Italian Prime Minister to satisfy the people of Italy. There is a popular clamor in Italy for some sort of satisfaction. The Prime Minister recalls Baron Fava, and tells the Italian people it was done because the Baron had been slow in bringing about a settlement of the matter, and then he sends a new Minister. There, the whole thing is settled."

It is again stated that the President is to visit the Pacific Coast this month. He will travel West by the Southern route, go North through California and Oregon, and return East by the Northern Pacific. He seems to dislike Nevada as much as he does silver and will not set foot in a State whose Senators killed his pet measure, the Force bill, by which he hoped to perpetuate his lease in the White House.

It is reported that Americans have been warned against visiting Italy this year in view of the excitement and feeling caused by the New Orleans affair. It is to be hoped that this is true, and that the shoddyites who visit Italy yearly and spend millions of money in the country will stay at home through fear of brigands. If Italy can stand that a very large majority of American citizens will not complain.

The President's Trip. Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—A statement by the President's Secretary in regard to the contemplated trip says the President is not fully determined, but pending the final decision has appointed a provisional schedule. Unless matters intervene to prevent the party will leave here April 14th, and travel southward, reaching Galveston Saturday night. The party will leave Galveston Monday morning and go to Los Angeles. California will be entered about Tuesday or Wednesday of the second week. California will take about a week's time, a short tour being made through the State. From San Francisco the party will go to Portland, Olympia and Puget Sound, and at the latter place the turn homeward will be made, taking in Salt Lake, Denver, Omaha and Indianapolis, spending Sunday, May 10th, there, and from Indianapolis back to Washington.

The Opinion of a Sensible Italian. Special to the Journal.

LONDON, April 2.—In an interview to-day Signor Bonaccio, President of the Italian Chamber of Commerce in this city, said he regarded Baron Fava's action as "somewhat precipitated. It was a mere flash in the pan, which would end in nothing." Signor Bonaccio added, "There is not much sympathy among the Italians in London with the men who were lynched in New Orleans. Italians here are of the opinion that there is no doubt that the men charged with the murder of Chief Hennessy were guilty, still they say if the lynchers go unpunished respectable Italians in the United States are not safe."

What Will Austria Do About It? Special to the Journal.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 2.—News of the riot at Morewood and a subsequent order from the Governor calling out the Tenth and Eighteenth Regiments created intense excitement here. The Eighteenth Regiment started for the scene of the trouble at 6 o'clock this evening accompanied by two companies of the Tenth. As the men killed were all unaccustomed foreigners, the possibility of international complications arising have been freely discussed. Austrian Consul Shomberg received a dispatch this afternoon informing him that several of the men killed were subjects of Austria. He replied that he would investigate the matter, but declined to talk further.

Not to be Elected by Popular Vote. Special to the Journal.

SYDNEY, April 2.—The Australia Federation Convention, now in session, has approved of the title "Commonwealth of Australia" for federated colonies. The convention also adopted a clause providing for a Chief Executive of Federation, which shall be known as Governor General and be appointed by the Queen. A proposition that the Governor General should be elected by a popular vote was rejected, 35 to 3.

Killed by an Explosion. Special to the Journal.

WELLS, Nev., April 2.—Samuel Tanner, a miner in Delano, in the north end of this county, was killed by an explosion of giant powder which he was thawing in a stove in his cabin. His legs were broken in several places and he was fearfully cut about the head by fragments of the stove. The cabin was blown to splinters. Another man was in the act of stooping to take the powder out of the stove when it exploded, but, strange to say, escaped unhurt.

Accidentally Killed. Special to the Journal.

SONORA, Cal., April 2.—To-day while taking down from a rack a double-barreled shot gun, Captain S. S. Turner accidentally shot and killed himself. Captain Turner left Tennessee in 1845 for California, and located in this county in 1849, where he has since lived, being one of the first white men in this county.

Italian Immigrants Increasing. Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Superintendent of Immigration Weber says immigration from Italy is rapidly increasing, in fact it is leading all other countries. The figures for March are: Italians 7,869, Germans 7,087, Great Britain and Ireland 4,336, Hungarian 3,589, Austria 3,484, Russia 2,923. Total 29,338.

The Flagship San Francisco. Special to the Journal.

VALLEJO, April 2.—The flagship San Francisco left the Mare Island Navy Yard at 5:20 this afternoon and proceeded down the bay to San Francisco, from which port she will depart on her first cruise to Valparaiso. The flagship was saluted by all the steam whistles in and around the harbor as she left her moorings at the Navy Yard.

Baseball. Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—The baseball game played here to-day between the Oakland and San Francisco was won by the former, 8 to 4.

SACRAMENTO, April 2.—The baseball game played here to-day between the San Jose and Sacramento teams was won by the former, 7 to 6.

Capt. Charles King, the novelist, does the greater part of his writing with his left hand. His brightest thoughts are evolved, he thinks, when the right lobe of his brain calls for the use of the motor muscles of his left side and vice versa.

Woolen cloth was first made in England in the year 1331, though it was known in oriental countries since time out of memory. It was neither dyed nor dressed in England until the year 1667.

Speed in Ocean Travel. "The great drawback," said Mr. Richard, one of the agents of the Hamburg-American Packet company, "to crossing the ocean quicker than we do at present is the expense of coal. More powerful engines could be built which would increase the speed, but these engines would require so much more coal. The steamers of the Hamburg-American Packet company now consume about 210 to 250 tons of coal a day; if 350 tons were needed daily, these steamers would be run at a loss, for, besides the cost of the valuable space required for the additional 100 or so tons of coal, more engineers, more stokers, etc., would be needed. But if we went to an unlimited expense for the most powerful engines in the world the gain of time in crossing the ocean would not be more than eight or ten hours, so long as coal is used.

"I have great faith, however, in electricity some day or other taking the place of coal for the propulsion of ocean steamers, and when that is brought about they will be run much cheaper. The weight of the coal does not make the steamer slower; that has nothing to do with it. Sometimes a weighted steamer goes faster than one that is not weighted, all depending upon the wind and weather.

"Steamers can never go as quick as locomotives, because they have to contend against water and air, whereas the railroad cars have only air as a resistance. Assuming the maximum speed of a locomotive to be about sixty miles an hour over short distances, it may be said that it goes three times as rapidly as a steamer, although the average time made by the fastest limited express train is only twice the average time made by a fast steamer."—Epoch.

The Kitten Will Vouch for This. One the seventh floor of the St. Catherine flats, at Fifty-third street and Madison avenue, a particularly pretty Maltese kitten has the good fortune to live.

Her favorite snoozing place is on the seat of one of the windows overlooking the court yard. This window happened to be open for a few minutes the other morning, and the kitten, quite carried away by the novelty of the idea, stepped out upon the window ledge to take a cat's eye view of the yard below and the surrounding country generally.

An instant later her paws slipped from under her upon a piece of ice and over she went. She fell a trifle of some six stories and then landed feet foremost just upon the extreme edge of the roof of one of the outbuildings. But so terrific was the force with which she landed there that she bounced from off the roof like a rubber ball, and after this instant's respite continued on her headlong journey toward the ground.

She landed on her feet again, shook herself for a moment just to see that she was all there, and then giving vent to a faint yowl of triumph, as one would say, "How's that for high?" picked her way toward the house again with a delightful air of nonchalance and totally oblivious to the fact that she has only eight lives left to her credit.—New York Evening Sun.

Machine for Shaping and Boring Post Arms. An ingenious machine is used in England for preparing telegraph post arms.

These arms are usually made from the best selected English oak, and vary in length from two feet to four feet. They are in the first case planed on the four sides by means of a special planing machine, and then sawed to the exact length required by means of a double cross cut sawing machine made specially for the purpose. The arms are then passed on to the shaping machine, which rapidly and effectively does its work. The machine is quite self contained, and has the driving shaft placed overhead and supported upon standards fixed to the main bed. The arrangements for dealing with the various lengths of arms have been carefully worked out. At the official test of the machine the wooden arms were finished at the rate of three per minute.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

DIED.

STODDARD—At Pendleton, Oregon, March 31st. James M. Stoddard, aged 73 years.

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimple, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors," which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can SCROFULA Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofula on her neck from the time she was 2 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Nauright, N. J. N. B. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla Sold by all druggists, $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

OPERA HOUSE DRY GOODS STORE.

To the Business Men and Citizens of the State of Nevada:

THE TIME HAS COME when I am compelled to plead my own cause in this boycotting business. First, I will acknowledge that I signed the first contract to close at 8 o'clock, also that I did all I could to carry it out and help the League; but as it has been my misfortune to have reverses in business, and as I was compelled to raise money for parties that I owe, I went to the Clerk's League at a meeting on two different occasions, and told them it would be impossible for me to close at 8 o'clock.

Now, when the League says I, on different occasions, violated my pledge, all I can say and prove, and that by Mr. Al Wilson, who is a member of the League, that it is FALSE, as Mr. Wilson has been in my employ since the contract was signed.

So far as my word is concerned, it is for the people to say, and not for the League to publish such trash to the entire State. I will further state that when the time comes that a few boys try to pull down and degrade a man when he has the misfortune that I have had, then it is high time to sell out and let the boys run the town.

Respectfully,
C. W. BOOTON.

P. Sweney of Winnemucca arrived yesterday with two carloads of extra fine beef cattle and one carload of horses, which he is taking to San Francisco.

The University students gave a social party in Thompson's Hall last night which was a very pleasant and enjoyable affair, and a credit to the young men.

A lamp was upset in the M. E. Church at Austin Sunday night, and a conflagration was prevented by a gentleman smothering the blazing oil with his overcoat.

Seven carloads of beef cattle, 4 for L. Brooks and 3 for G. M. Humphrey, were shipped from Reno to San Francisco yesterday and sixteen carloads of beavers from Iron Point, passed through for Horn & Chepman.

The Virginia Chronicle says: With the new ore discoveries on the Comstock, a general supply of water for agricultural pursuits, and the probability of a competing line across the State, the outlook for Nevada is quite encouraging.

As the Gazette has had much to say about dispatches recently, the JOURNAL will give it a pointer, free, gratis for nothing. By referring to the San Francisco Bulletin, of April 1st, it will find considerable of the telegraphic news which it published last evening under date of April 2.

The Austin Advocate is informed by letter from Capt. C. B. Dahlgren, that "Metalliferous" Murphy, who was reported some time ago as having "long since extended his prospecting field into the great beyond," is not dead, but is in New Mexico, and is alive and kicking and will probably make it win before he dies.

At a regular meeting of Truckee Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., held Wednesday evening, the following Past Grand were elected Representatives to the Grand Lodge, which is to meet at Winnemucca Tuesday, June 16th, 1891: H. P. Brown, J. V. Peers, S. Jacobs, N. C. Hamersmith, F. C. Updike, A. Nelson and D. Lachman.

Counsel in the Bliss vs. Dunphy et al. water suit at Winnemucca adopted resolutions of respect to the memory of Joseph P. Phelan, Esq., of the bar of the District Court, and it was ordered that they be entered in the minutes of the Court, and that a copy be sent to the California Association and to the San Francisco Bar Association.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Stoddard, accompanied by their son Frank, left Reno March 26th for Umatilla, Oregon. Yesterday a telegram was received bringing the news of his death, which occurred at Pendleton, Oregon, March 31st, a few minutes before midnight. Deceased was the father of C. H. Stoddard of the JOURNAL, and A. B. Stoddard of Hawthorne. He has two sisters living at Pacific Grove, California.

Dave Clarke, a miner in the Hale & Norcross, while ascending the incline between the 1300 and 1400 levels on the giraffe, noticed an obstruction on the track and made a grab for the bell rope. In doing so, the Chronicle says, he fell backward and his left side near the hip was pierced with a gopher bar and his left foot was caught and nearly twisted off. The wound in his side is not serious, but the foot is badly crushed.

The Truckee Republican says a new system was inaugurated yesterday by the Southern Pacific Company. Train ticket agents have been put on all of the principal passenger trains, whose duty it is to punch tickets and collect cash fares. The conductors will have nothing to do except to look after their trains. The conductors seem indignant to the new scheme but seem to take it to mean that the company suspects that heretofore all the cash has been not in all cases been accounted for, which is a very unjust assumption.

SUGGESTIONS TO SILVER MEN.

Let Nevada Emphasize Its Demand for Free Coinage.

WINNEMUCCA, March 31, 1891,
EDITOR STATE JOURNAL: As the time is approaching when the people of Nevada through the organizations of the two political parties will be called upon to participate in the nomination of candidates for President of the United States, it is well to consider the matter thoroughly by conference and interchange of views through the public prints and otherwise. At all times, except during a political campaign, there seems to be a unanimity of sentiment among the people of Nevada that the free and unlimited coinage of silver is of paramount interest to this State, but in the heat of a political contest the majority of the people place the success of party above the measures which are antagonistic to the silver interest. It was demonstrated in the last Congress that 87 per cent. of the Democratic party of the whole country is with us on this vital issue, and 81 per cent. of the Republicans against us; yet Nevada sustained the policy of the enemies of silver at the late election, ostensibly for private reasons, but really to keep in line with the National Republican party. That President Harrison will be renominated by his party there is not a rational doubt. It is equally certain that his party as a party in this State will support him at the election, no difference who may be the opposing candidate or candidates.

Who will receive the Democratic nomination? is a question that cannot be answered with any degree of certainty till the delegates of the party in the several States are chosen. I fear, however, that the McKinley tariff law will have the effect of securing Grover Cleveland's nomination. This law is so odious to the people of the States of the Valleys of the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio rivers as being in its design, tendencies, scope and effect the fostering of monopolies, the making of millionaires of the few and paupers of the many, that I fear all other questions will be regarded as of minor importance by the National Convention, and Cleveland be called to the front. If he receives the nomination the duty of the Democrats of Nevada is plain. Free coinage of silver being of paramount interest and the vital issue of Nevada, if a gold bug is nominated the Democrats should refrain from putting an electoral ticket in the field. They can thus maintain their manhood and self respect at least. In the event of such nomination, let the State Central Committee, appointed by the Carson Silver Convention, meet and call a convention to nominate an electoral ticket. The Democrats as a body, with the aid of such Republicans as are not controlled by "bosses," "Bruners" and "waste basket" influence, can carry this State with such a ticket and thus put the seal of condemnation upon all such gold bug schemes as were recommended to and passed by Congress in the shape of the Windom bill or the Sherman silver abolition, its legitimate offspring. Let the disgrace of self-stultification still rest alone with the Republican party in this State on the silver question.

Notes from Down the River.

The many friends of Hon. James Caldwell, of Churchill county, and formerly of Belmont, will be pained to learn of his injury, in having his ankle broken by the kick of a mule, at Stillwater, on Monday last. Dr. Thomas was immediately telegraphed for and came to Wadsworth, while Mr. Caldwell was brought here from Stillwater, forty miles distant, in a spring wagon. The doctor considers it a bad fracture and will continue to visit him occasionally for some time.

Mr. Caldwell is an industrious, honest and obliging man and has the sympathy of whole community.

Mr. Scott McCracken, who has been confined to his house for some weeks with la grippe and bilious fever, is again able to put in an appearance on the streets.

M. Donlin, the genial head clerk of E. Griswold's general merchandise store, is on the list of possible benefactors, "Spring crop."

The show last night "Bell Ringers," is said to have been the biggest bilk that has visited the town this season.

RELICS FROM THE SHIPS.

SOME OF THE QUEER THINGS SEEN IN OLD SOUTH STREET.

Quaint Figureheads Which Have Interesting Histories—How Some of Them Were Brought During the Draft Riots. A Pessimistic Old Salt.

A battered looking old fellow, wearing an antiquated chin beard that was the color of picked oakum, stood on South street yesterday, gazing at one of the big clipper ships that was loading preparatory to a trip around the Horn to San Francisco. His gaze was somber. He seemed in some way discontented with affairs as they stood. Evidently he was not pleased with his immediate surroundings.

"Handsome ship, that," remarked a bystander to the veteran.

"Humph," snorted he of the oaken beard. "Mebbe you're a judge o' ships."

"Well, no, but I thought"

"Oh, you did," retorts the veteran.

"Well, I thort you did. Well, that air clipper she air well enough for her. I ain't sayin' she ain't a bit handsome to look at, but I've seen a heap better. Thar wuz the Davy Crockett. She wuz a ship as was hansom an' as did hansom. An' there wuz—but what's the use? Times is changed an' ships is changed an' South street is changed. There's more wrecks along here than anything else."

"What d'ye think I seen along here a while ago? Well, I went in one of them junk shops where they keeps all sorts of things that they picks up from old ships, an' shiver me ef thar in that shop wuzn't the figurehead of a ship I sailed in thirty years ago. 'Twuz all battered an' broke, but I knew it at once. Well, I bought it, an' I'm goin' to take it up to C'nettykut, where I live, an' keep it there. An' I ain't goin' voyagin' through South street any more. It makes me feel like a castaway hulk myself!" With this the ancient one relapsed into a silence which he would not break.

THE OLD STYLE FIGUREHEAD.

In one respect the old salt was right enough. South street can show an abundance of queer relics of wrecks and relics of brave men who have gone down to the sea in ships within the last thirty years or more. There are a number of shops that keep all sorts of queer things on hand. They pick these things up in a variety of ways, and there is a considerable sale for them.

There are figureheads, for instance. In the olden time every ship of any pretensions had a figurehead. Owners of vessels vied in their efforts to secure fine designs, and the enterprising gentlemen who modeled the representations of fair maids, sea nymphs, of trim midshipmen or of admirals in uniform did a right pretty business. A simple sort of scroll work has taken the place of the dashing figures of the past.

Of course there are exceptions. The big English four master, the Falkland, has an excellently modeled representation of the Fair Maid of Perth above her cutwater. The clipper ship Seminole has a Seminoole brave in full war paint, and there are others. In the main, however, the old time figurehead has fallen into desuetude.

Just off South street, before a shop in which nautical instruments are sold, there is the figure of a sailor that has evidently seen many and many a storm. He looks as though he had been crimped and shanghaied times beyond number. Part of his nose is gone, some one has made a pot shot at one of his eyes, but there is a jaunty, wicked leer upon his face and an expression that says:

"Here's a salt as has sailed, an' be blowed to ye!"

EFFIGY OF GEN. BOLIVAR.

There are a couple of old figureheads to be seen on South street that have had very hard experiences on land as well as on sea. One of these is an effigy of Gen. Bolivar, and was the figurehead of the ship of that name.

Originally the effigy was so painted as to appear dressed in full naval uniform, cocked hat and all. At the time of the draft riots, the rioters, having nothing else to do at one time, stood across the street and fired bullets at him. He received full many a wound that day, but he stands in his place still, stiff and erect.

Another figurehead fared even worse at the same hands. It was intended to represent Samuel Kimball, of Kennebec, Me., but it left the sea some forty years ago. It was then placed where it now stands, to call attention to a store. The draft rioters had rare sport with it one day. They tied a rope around its neck, dragged it here and there in wild glee. Then they made it the central figure of a bonfire. Just as it was being consumed the police came down and rescued it. It was repainted, and today, impassive and dignified, it passes its time studying human nature as it is on South street.

But there are other curios to be found in this locality besides figureheads. There is one shop where more or less warlike articles can be found. There you can see ugly weapons taken from Chinese and Malay pirates; you can find queer looking weapons taken from natives on the African coast or the war clubs of the Patagonians—at least you will be told they are.—New York Mail and Express.

It is not alone the composition which determines the quality of a bell; very much depends upon its shape. Moreover, the proportions between its height, width and thickness are all to be taken into consideration. The dimensions, roughly stated, which are deemed to be the best for large bells, are one-fifth of the diameter in thickness and twelve times the thickness in height.
